REFUSES TO PAY FINE

Pleading guilty on January 18, to shooting minkrats without a permit at Bassano, during November, Harry E. Kenelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenelly, was fined $100 and costs, to be served in prison as an alternative to Magistrate S. H. Edwards, at Bassano. Kenelly, who stated he did not intend to pay the fine, was escorted to the RCMP guard room in Calgary.

RELIEF SITUATION OUTLINED IN GOVERNMENT REPORT

Approximately 71,000 persons within Alberta received relief money totaling $4,749,888.54 during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1938. This included families and single households unemployed who applied for and received relief. The gross included direct relief exclusive of agriculture and farm assistance projects. The cost of direct relief in Alberta was $2,055.88 or only 2.2% of the total.

In addition to relief included in these figures, certain work programs were undertaken and provided wages in lieu of relief. Under these programs 2,156 families, representing 10,775 persons, earned an average of $80.00 per family. These families received relief while they were working but were given further assistance afterward if they had need it. These persons who would have been eligible for relief had it not been for the work programs, probably would have received $4,460 telephone phones, 352,129 linear feet of piping and guard rails, and 6,200,000 board feet of manufactured dimension lumber. The sale of this material did not interfere in any way with Alberta's markets because the railway companies, the telephone companies, Canada and the telephone police, plumb and lumber provided, from local sources, materials which would have been imported had the work programs not been undertaken.

The relief costs for maintenance of farms, families which are a charge of the Provincial Government, could be cut virtually in half if these families could be placed on the land. A recent survey shows that the Government has at its disposal approximately 1,000,000 acres of land which are now available and in good shape. There are 908 transients families on Provincial relief. Of these 358 are in Edmonton, 232 in Calgary and 314 elsewhere throughout the Province.

The Government has prepared to place these families in farm homes already established; to enable them to pay rent and tax for these homes; to supply such farms with a cow, some pigs, poultry, and other assistance when each family demonstrates that it is able to care for such stock and to continue, in most cases, the government's

Steville Area Believed Proved

Anglo-Canadian Resources Oil and Gas Shining in Well, there

Proving up a definite structure in the Steville area, northeast of Duchess, which may prove productive of oil and gas, was announced today.

F. P. Byrne, vice-president and managing director of Anglo-Canadian Oil and Gas Ltd., stated that the limestone had been encountered at the Steville well at a depth of 2,185 feet and caging was set on the potential producing horizon.

The Steville well is being drilled jointly by the Anglo-Canadian Company and Provincial Investments Ltd. The contract of the limestone was accompanied with oil and gas showing, Mr. Byrne said.

Mr. Byrne said an additional 20,000 acres of land had been secured in the Steville area, and the company is in the intention to drill a second well.

Optical production of crude oil in Turner Valley is obtained from the limestone.

Curlers Enjoy Fine Weather For Opening Annual 'Spoil

TWENTY RINKS DISPLAY KEEP COMPETITION FOR TOP HONORS

With twenty rinks entered in the Bassano open Bonspiel, games commenced on Tuesday night, and are being run off in rapid succession in order to keep the competition moving. The term "spoil" was terminated by Friday evening. Again this year, all curlers taking part in the spoil are displaying great enthusiasm, and whether they win or lose their game, take it with the spirit of sportsmanship.

Weather conditions up to the time of going to press have been ideal, the temperature hovering just a few degrees below freezing point. Probably the excellent condition of the roads and weather combined are responsible for the presence of ten outside rinks at the spot that the competition is held. Late snow-blocked roads and varying temperatures handicapped the local Bonspiel to a certain extent, only fifteen rinks taking part, including local entries. However, the entry from outside points has been much more satisfactory.

On the draw sheets in the rink appear names of family trips such as MacDonald of Gleichen, Keir of Chay, Marcy of Brooks, Somerville of Chay, Watt of Mio, Raasmeijer of Hussar, Bridgeman of Hussar, Rehbit of Roseau, and McLeans. A Cathro, Maclellan, Stegane, Young, Redmond, Simpson, Keith, Scott and Petron of Bassano. Several other entries were expected, but for unknown reasons entries were not recorded.

Again this year a fine array of prizes have been contributed by many local and outside business firms. These have been arranged in a suitable manner in three sections. The first section is the customer's choice Challenge, Merchants and Concessions events, the draw has been named the North Star Oil Competition, the Calgary Power Co. event, and the Brewhouse Competition. Prizes in the above events are as follows:

Customer's Choice Competition
FIRST—Four Silver Jackets, North Star Oil Oilers.
SECOND—Four Carving Boxes, Ontario Laundry, Calgary.
THIRD—Four Scarves, McLean's Stores, Bassano.
FOURTH—Four Novel Cracker Jax, Scott Foods Co., Calgary.
Calgary Power Co. Competition
FIRST—Two Tickets, Table Lamp, Calgary Power Co.
SECOND—Four Sets Silver Star wear, T. Eaton Co., Ltd., Winnipeg.
THIRD—Four rugs, The Calgary Daily Herald, Calgary.
FOURTH—Four Flashlights, Palmer's Sport Supplies, Calgary.
Brewhouse Competition

FIRST—Four Silver Bon-Bon Boxes Delivers Ltd., representing the Brewery Industry of Alberta.
SECOND—Four English Pottery, Teapots, Henry Birks and Sons Ltd., Calgary.

The competition received considerable support from the Father Brundage Company, Calgary, and the Crystal Drapery Ltd., Calgary, of cash donations. Suitable prizes have been purchased and are displayed with all of the above in the window of Sibley's Drug Store, Bassano.

Standing as Press Time: At the time of going to press the following is the standing of the risks taking part:

TUESDAY EVENING—In the North Star Oil Competition, Keith and Maclellan defeated Storace to advance to the sixties.

Calgary Power Event—Scott defeated Peirson, advanced to sixties.
WEDNESDAY, 1pm—Calgary Power Event—

Kelvin defeated Rasmussen, advanced to sixties. Redmond defeated Rehbit, advanced to eighties.

Watt defeated Jans, advanced to eighties.
2:30 p.m.—Calgary Power Event—Maclellan defeated Wheately, advanced to sixties.

Hornemann defeated Keith, advanced to sixties.

Simpson defeated Young, advanced to sixties.

E. L. GRAY RESIGNS FROM POST WITH E.I.D.

CANADA 1939

Official announcement of the resignation of Mr. E. L. Gray as manager of the Eastern Irrigation District was made yesterday. Mr. Gray's resignation has been received and accepted by the board of directors, although it will not become effective until the spring work is well in shape, probably about the first of June. Mr. Gray's contract will be two years to the end of May.

For some time there has been rumors of Mr. Gray's resignation, in favor of a political career as Provincial Liberal Leader, a position he accepted in 1937, but until this week there had been no official confirmation of the nature of his intentions. It is a regrettable fact to the district that Mr. Gray should allow his political interests in interfere with the peaceful and efficient manner in which he has directed the district during his term of office as manager.

Rosemary

The Rosemary Redwings continued their winning streak Sunday by emerging victorious over the Brooks team 4-2.

The Redwings displayed a good caliber of hockey and had the Brooks boys barked until the middle of the third period. Not until then was the opposing team able to score. The visitors were unable to take advantage of the extra man power when in the second period. Groom Bodmer was penalized for tripping and was sent to the box for the second defeat for the Redwings over the Brooks boys.

A complete list of prize winners together with summary of the remaining games to be played, will be published next week.

HOCKEY GAME WITH BREATHLESS WORKING

The hockey game between the Drumheller Rockets and the local Bearcats, scheduled for Sunday afternoon next, has been postponed, according to the office of the manager, who promises to bring the Rockets to Bearcat's at an early date, so watch for further announcements next week.

Our Blue-eyed Lassie
The little toy dog is covered with dust;

As sturdy and staunch she stands,

The little toy doll is covered with dust;

And her ratty mittens in her hands.

Time was when the little toy dog was new;

And the dollie was passing fair—but that was when our blue-eyed lassie

Kissed them and put them there, "Now don't you go till I come," she says;

And don't you make any noise!

And trudging off to her trundle bed She dreamed of her pretty toys.

And while she was dreaming an angel's song

Awakened her eyes of blue.

The days will be many and the years will be long.

The little toy friends will be gone.

E. L. GRAY RESIGNS

A LL SPECULATION as to the course which Mr. E. L. Gray, General Manager of the Eastern Irrigation District would pursue in his option, to devote all his time to the responsible position which he has occupied for more than three years, or to follow a political career on which he embarked in 1937 as leader of the Liberal party in Alberta, has been set at rest completely by an announcement of his impending resignation from the Management of the E. I. D.

Prior to assuming the Liberal leadership Mr. Gray had established for himself enviable reputation as an organizer with the Provincial Government which resulted in his appointment as Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs. His success in that Department and his experience in practical agriculture, which received ample recognition, it is safe to say, in 1937 comparatively few were satisfied with the quality of the work he had done in his capacity as Manager, although it must be admitted that fortune favored him through poor crops on dry lands.

When Mr. Gray assumed leadership of the Liberal Party there were many who shook their heads in dismay, fearing that it would take too long for a Manager's time. Both positions would seem to call for full-time services of even the most capable man. And so it has proved.

General regret will be felt at his decision to pursue a political career, when the position he presently occupies seems to suit a man of his particular capabilities so thoroughly.

This paper has not seen eye to eye with Mr. Gray in things political, but we do hope that the road he has chosen to follow will not prove too rough and rocky in the years that are to come.

The District ought to take steps at once, but without undue haste, to obtain the services of the best possible man to fill Mr. Gray's shoes. His successor ought to be on the job well before Mr. Gray finally departs in order to obtain a full working knowledge of the District and its interior economy.

POLITICS BARRED

A FTER EIGHTEEN YEARS of active political endeavor the U. F. A. by an almost unanimous vote of delegates at its recent convention decided to retire from the political field—a field in which it had enjoyed almost unprecedented success for fourteen years and in which it met with dismal failure four years ago before the Social Credit onslaught.

The instant result of this momentous decision will probably be a great jump in the membership of the organization which has been increasing steadily since its 1929 inception, while split-friendship assunder and rent the organization in twain. It will now revert to a social and economic body, but that is not to say that it's influence politically will not be great.

It may have taken since 1921 to learn the lesson which H. W. Wood tried to preach so unsuccessfully, but we imagine that as a social and political organization the influence of the U. F. A. on the political horizon will be felt more than ever before.

All political parties, without exception, profess to see resultant benefits to themselves following this decision. That remains to be seen. But it is certain that any political party which has not it's eye on the U. F. A. vote, and prepared to meet all reasonable requirements of that body as an economic organization is in for trouble and plenty of it.

A UNIQUE FAREWELL

U NIQUE IN THE HISTORY of Canada has been the farewell tour of R. B. Bennett. Others of course have said farewell to their native lands, but we know of no other single individual whose departure has been the cause of such national regret and the occasion of "such sweet sorrow."

The man and the practical to the last was his message to the people of Canada. The ordinary man, born for the purpose of evolving a common foreign policy among members of the British Commonwealth of Nations. Prior to assuming the grave responsibilities of Prime Minister, Neville Chamberlain suggested the formation of an Empire Council sitting continuously, dealing with matters affecting the Empire as a whole with representation in the Cabinet and headed, as he then termed it, "preferably by some distinguished member of the Standing Committee."

We have wondered if Mr. Bennett's Empire four some years ago may not have had some connection with that speech, if the formation of that proposed Empire Council has not been shelved because of troubled European conditions, if it has been decided even in the face of or because of such conditions, to proceed with the suggestion, or if it has been decided to retrace and become part and parcel of the vast plateau of Sir Winston Churchill's Empire.

Time alone will tell, but knowing Bennett of Calgary, our forecast is that he will die in harness, with his boots on, serving his fellow men to the last.

"RANTIN' RAB"

BURNS CLUBS in the world over celebrated the birthday of "Ran-tin' Rab" Burns, Scotland's National Poet on Wednesday, 25th January, thereby according to her favourite son an honour bestowed on no other poet living or dead that we know of.

The Rab, as he is affectionately known, but that does not make him a drunkard. That he is fond, not wholly but too well, may be true, but that does not make him immoral. In both he was the loveable rascal, whose only error, if error it was, in confessing—an error, be it said, not likely to be made by his accusers.

The world today knows him as a great lover of all things living—flowers, animals and human beings, especially "the lassies"; a lover of the poor and downtrodden, as the great hater of tyranny and oppression; as the songwriter who sang songs that never die; and his voice as the voice which interpreted Scotland and Scotland as no other has done before or since.

KEEP WEST BRITISH

In recent years restrictions on immigration have resulted in comparatively few newcomers establishing themselves in Canada. Of the Britons who have come here as settlers, few have reached the prairie provinces. These provinces are filling up with non-British people, and that will, in time, unless more agriculturists from the United Kingdom can be induced to emigrate and take up land on the prairies, make the west practically a foreign country in sentiment and practice and, therefore, not desirable for immigrants of British birth or extraction.

—Christian Science Monitor.

DOES IT GO FAR ENOUGH?

The new plan for the redistribution of electoral constituencies brought in by a special committee appointed by the provincial legislature is a step in the right direction. The proposed plan would call for the amalgamation and elimination of several ridings in the province and reduce the representation in the House from the present figure of sixty-three members to fifty-six. This decrease would mean a saving of $14,000 at one throw in salaries plus traveling expenses and all the little "extras" which go with the position as M.L.A. The present government has done well by its proposed reduction. However, they could, and should, go even farther by more drastically cutting representation in the provincial House. The curse of modern democracies in the world and at present is the enormous cost of government. Too many cooks will spoil the broth, whether they are in the kitchen or in the government. Long-winded debates with amendments of bills which amount to less than nothing jump administration costs to fantastical sums.

—Lacombe Globe.

PEACE THROUGH PREPAREDNESS FOR WAR

I hear many people talking of peace as if it were a plaster that could be stuck onto the face of Europe. This is dangerous. In a world in which there are men of power who make no distinction between might and right—and there always have been such men—peace is a state of balanced power which makes the probable price of loot, an unattractive one to contemplate. As of old, so now, let all who seek peace—and who in this country does not?—prepare themselves for war; mentally, morally, physically, and materially. Thus and thus only can we defend against and aggressor our liberties, our freedom, and all else that makes our heritage—and go forward with stout hearts to establish and peace we all seek.—Sir Auckland Geddes in an interview by the (London) Observer.

DOWN TO BRASS TACKS

There is no reason to believe that from now on the administration of the province will be along more orthodox lines and the government will make serious attempt to promote the tangible income of the people by encouraging the development of natural resources. This is getting down to common sense and promises more than theoretical dividends from a fountain pen. Three years has doubtless convinced the legislators that the surest way for this province to pay its people dividends is by the realization in monetary wealth of the resources that nature has placed at our disposal. It is almost safe to assume that the theories of Major Douglas have been propounded and that the policy he advocated has led to most of the unpopularity of the government. Faced with reality there is little to do but follow along lines that have led somewhere in the past. There are indications that the government intends to do this and that their attempt will be sincere.—Black Diamond Flare.

THE FINE ART OF GIVING

The dividing line between getting and giving is sometimes pretty thin; in one case, recently, only as thin as the quarter a police captain in Peabody, Mass., spent at a lunch cart to feed a jobless boy who not long before had been turned out of a local jail. Befriending the boy may have saved the City $22,000, because, moved by the good deed, the boy gave the police captain a slip of paper containing the combination of the municipal vault.

Happily there are many individuals and groups actuated by a genuine desire to help those in need. It was this desire that inspired John Howard, noted British philanthropist, to found his society for helping discharged prisoners. He knew the responsibilities that go with living, if its possible benefits are not to be dissipated by indiscriminate handouts. Money helps only where the giving is conditioned by the strict fulfillment of those moral obligations which rest with the one who accepts it.

Only through close personal investigation or the experienced administration of a trained organization may one be sure money will be used in a way that will help the recipient to stand on his own feet and not always depend on the charitable impulse of the passer-by.

John Howard knew how especially needful of this wise assistance are those making a new start outside prison gates. The recognition which the John Howard Society in Boston has won over a period of many years shows how far his influence has traveled. Those whose yearly contributions make possible the good work directed from the society's headquarters at 51 Cornhill are helping to maintain a constructive method of giving; for those who are getting help under this system are giving something in return which, if less tangible, is no less real.

 relief policy for transient families until such family has become self-supporting. We feel that many families if they would take advantage of our farm settlement plan, could be self-supporting in two years. This particular case has proved that if they remain in cities it is most difficult for them to become self-supporting and they remain a charge upon the taxpayers of Alberta. Since December 1, 1938, only 24 transient families have taken advantage of the Government's farm settlement plan. These families are still on relief but they have been located in districts where they will have opportunities to get seasonal employment on neighboring farms and where, through farming operations, they will get a new opportunity to become self-supporting.

Vocational training and instruction in the manufacture of furniture, basketry, and other household fixtures was given to 10 families in Edmonton. The furniture made by these families will be used by other families under similar circumstances. Other furniture has been made with all the money received will be distributed among the families responsible for their manufacture.

A total of 2,000 single homeless men, many of whom are not a responsibility of the Alberta Government, are yet in a practical way very good psychologists themselves. At present, for instance may never have studied this science in any book, yet instinct tells him how the minds of his countrymen think. His knowledge is too much wasted by the current of popular opinion that flows, so that he is not much more than mere weather vane. But spill any successful statesman has to know what the people think in his immediate mind, before he can sway them or their thoughts.

The good salesman is an excellent psychologist. He knows how the mind of his customer works, he tries to adapt himself to the tendencies in the mind of his customer and how to appeal to different types of minds.

One reason why many persons fail to read people's minds, is that they are so anxious to talk themselves and express their own thoughts, that they rarely listen to others. Persons who listen more than they talk, know the thoughts that are passing through the minds of the people, and is better able to predict what they will do, and what kind of argument will appeal to them.

The Annual Convention of the Alberta Farmers' Association will be held in the Hotel Alberta, Calgary, on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, February 5th, 6th and 7th. Arrangements and plans were discussed at a Committee meeting in the Calgary Club, Wednesday at which Mr. J. R. Swersey, Deputy Minister of Agriculture was present.

For this purpose the Provincial Government retained the services of 24 physicians and three nurses who were available to needy persons in the pioneer and outlying districts where they practiced. Medical services rendered on relief were granted on the recommendation of our approved physicians.

The above article is now entitled "The Unfinished Story of Protection—Steps Taken To Solve It." In addition to outlining the problem and its effect on society generally, the article shows how the Provincial Governments and the Dominion Government are cooperating to solve the problem in the most efficient manner possible over the widely separated economic areas of Canada.

The price of the publication is 25 cents per copy, which charge covers merely the cost of paper and actual printing. A special price concession has been made to the case teacher, bona fide students and ministers of religion, since past experience has shown that considerable use has been made of this publication for educational purposes, and it is the policy of the Minister to encourage its use.

For the first time in its history, however, no judge, U. Salmond stood firm forcing the game into overtime.

T. Brown put the Gleichen boys at the 5 minute mark to bring the only counter of the second period. When Murray was chased to the cooler for tripping Bassano couldn't beat him.

In the third, tanto Douglas put the locals on top 4-2 with a solo rush at the 6 minute mark. Bob Brown slapped in a rebound to shorten the local's lead. When Lester tied the count at the 18 minute mark, the Bassano boys protested, claiming the goal was offside. The referee, however, gave judgment. U. Salmond stood firm forcing the game into overtime.

T. Brown put the Gleichen boys ahead for the first time 2 minutes after the deciding frame started. The Gleichen Club claimed another goal but J. Hinkle explained it hit the post. Lester assisted by B. Brown put the visitors 4-3 in the 19th minute.
